TROY HERALD.

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 6, 1876.

LOCAL AND COUNTY NEWS.

Harley Cornick was in town last Saturday and gave us a pleasant call.

Dr. Geo. P. Smiley, of Millwood will start next week for New York, for the purpose of taking a course of lectures at Bellevue Hospital college.

Mrs. Emanuel Block died in St. Louis on Monday. She will be buried here to-morrow. Funeral services at the Presbyterian church at nine o'clock.

Mr. B. S. Crews returned last Sunday from Virginia with his family. Mrs. Crews and child had been there for several months and return very much improved in health.

The colored people of this place gave a festival on last Friday and Saturday evenings, which, we understand, was gotten up and conducted in a very creditable manner. The proceeds go towards purchasing additional instruments for their brass band.

The Public and High school opened on Monday morning, under very favorable circumstances. One hundred and thirty pupils were enrolled, among them about twenty-five from outside the district. This is a remarkably good showing for the first day, especially when so many were absent on account of the slight malarial diseases that are now so prevalent. In a day or two the classes will be all arranged and the regular course of studies will set in.

RUNAWAY.—Last Sunday evening while three young men, E. Belmeier, Wm. Shaden and Wm. Ritter, were out riding, their horse became frightened and started to run. Ritter, who was driving, seems to have lost his presence of mind, for he immediately jumped out, still holding the lines in his hand. Shaden and Belmeier were thrown out, the former breaking his right leg just above the ankle, and Belmeier receiving a severe gash on the side of his head. The buggy was considerably damaged.

The senior editor, on his return from Canton made a flying visit to Paris, in Monroe county. It is a thriving little town with a population of twelve or fifteen hundred, located on a slight elevation in the midst of a rich and prosperous country, and contains some magnificent business and public buildings. It is one of the most desirable little cities in the state. We were very courteously entertained by the editors of the Mercury and the Appeal, the hospitable proprietor of the Gleason House, Mr. West, our old comrade in arms, Mr. Wm. Porter, and his excellent lady, Hon. A. M. Alexander, and others, to whom we return our warmest thanks.

We have received a letter from one of our subscribers asking that we publish, for the benefit of our taxpayers, the recent decision of the United States supreme court in the bond case of Evans against the town of Coloma, reported in the Central Law Journal, and copied into the Weekly Missouri Republican of August 10th. Our correspondent failed to send us either of those journals, and our files of the daily Republican being incomplete, we are unable to give the decision. We have read it, however, and it is, in general terms, to this effect: Although the terms of the law had not been complied with (which was the fact in the case in question), the bonds recited on their face that the requirements of the law had been enacted, consequently they were valid and binding in the hands of an innocent purchaser, or third party.

The following were nominated by the Democratic convention of Pike county last week: Judge Peter F. Vaughn for representative from the eastern district and Judge A. P. Miller from the western, E. F. Matthews for collector, John A. Mackey for justice of the county court, Simon Bryant, for sheriff, Richard J. Hawkins for county clerk, Gabriel Phillips for treasurer, E. T. Smith for prosecuting attorney, George Smith for assessor and Thos. Donovan for public administrator.

List of letters remaining in the Troy post-office Troy, Mo., September 1, 1876. If not called for within thirty days will be sent to the dead-letter office. G. W. MOHR, P. M. Coeland, Wash Nordyke, A. J. Cloer, Peter Sharo, Jacob Dennis, Jas. A. Sleet, John T. Gibson, J. M. Stevens, Wm. S. Henry, S. J. Thomas, Jor. M. Madden, Thomas Wagner, John Nordyke, Johnson Willis, Barney.

"Farmers Friend," "Buckeye" and "I X L" Wheat Drills at lowest cash figures, for sale by B. S. Crews.

Taxes. Notice is hereby given that the undersigned, collector of Lincoln county, Mo., will meet the tax-payers of said county at the following times and places, for the purpose of collecting and receiving their taxes, viz.:

Cane Mills and Evaporators kept on hand, and at bottom figures, by B. S. Crews.

Mountjoy Scholl, aged about 86 years, died at his residence in Calumet Wednesday evening, the 23d. Mr. Scholl was one of our oldest citizens, and though he possessed many remarkable peculiarities incident to most of the early settlers of Pike county, his upright and honorable character in all his dealings and transactions throughout his long residence in Pike county, were marked features of his life, and made him a highly respected citizen. He was a Marylander by birth, and though we have not the date of his settling in this county, it was at a very early time—somewhere in the twenties. We might sum it up by saying that he was one of the most eccentric and remarkable men that ever lived and died in Pike county.—Louisiana Press.

If you want to buy a Cider or Wine mill cheap, go to B. S. Crews' hardware store.

Capt. C. W. Rush is a candidate for the office of sheriff and collector of Warren county subject to the Republican convention.

Dissolution.

The copartnership heretofore existing under the name and style of Parker, Weeks & Co., is this day dissolved by mutual consent. C. W. Parker having purchased the entire interest of N. B. Weeks in the business, will collect all the debts due the late firm, and will pay all the liabilities. C. W. PARKER, N. B. WEEKS.

Sept. 1st 1876.

Delinquent Taxes.

Notice is hereby given that all lands in the list for which taxes have not been paid, will be sold on the first Monday in October. The owners of such will save cost by settling before that time. P. G. Shelton collector

A Very Special Notice.

To my friends and customers who are indebted to me, I wish to say that I am needing money, and it is necessary for me to urge them to speedy payment in order that I may pay my liabilities and make provision for the purchase of my fall stock. I hope that you will appreciate this call and come forward promptly and settle up. C. W. PARKER.

Hayes at Home—His Standing Among the People Who Know Him.

[Cincinnati Cor. N. Y. World.]

The Republican candidate for president, Rutherford B. Hayes, was a resident of the city of Cincinnati, Ohio, for about twenty years preceding his removal to Fremont, Ohio, after his defeat for congress by Gen. Bauning in 1872. His profession was that of a lawyer practicing in the city and county courts. He was once elected city solicitor, twice elected governor, a position under the constitution of Ohio requiring no talent beyond that possessed by a mere figure-head; once elected to congress, and once defeated for congress in a district that had given a Republican majority in every congressional election for ten years, except one when Gen. Caryl succeeded as a Republican, receiving Democratic votes in defeating the regular Republican nominee—the good Deacon Richard Smith of the Cincinnati Gazette.

His business associates therefore for more than twenty years were the lawyers of the Hamilton county bar. They know his capacity for business, his ability and integrity better than any other class of persons in the United States. His standing among them may be inferred from the support they give him, and here it may be worthy of notice that partisanship during this period of time was at a discount and merit appreciated at several elections in said city for judicial positions, where the influence of the bar was most exerted, as is shown by the elections of Judge Hoadley, a Republican; Judge Taft, a Republican; Judge Coffin, a Republican; Judge Yapple, a Democrat, and Judge Tilden, a Republican or non-partisan, to the supreme court bench without opposition.

Now, what is Mr. Hayes' standing among his legal friends and associates? Not a single attorney who voted the Democratic ticket during the residence of Rutherford B. Hayes in Cincinnati, or who had voted the Democratic ticket since his removal to Fremont, will support him for president of the United States; but, on the contrary, every one of them is now supporting Tilden and Hendricks.

Judge Hoadley, who has voted the Democratic ticket for more than twenty years, and who was one of the Judges of the superior court of Cincinnati during all the time that Rutherford B. Hayes practiced at the Cincinnati bar, will not support him for president; on the contrary, is now a very prominent political speaker, supporting with all his great power as an orator and debater, Tilden and Hendricks. Judge Stallo, formerly one of the judges of the court of common pleas, who has voted a Democratic ticket for more than twenty-five years, will not support his associate, Rutherford B. Hayes, for president; but, on the contrary, has already delivered a most effective speech for Tilden and Hendricks. E. W. Kittredge, a lawyer with a most excellent practice during all the time that Rutherford B. Hayes was at the Cincinnati bar and since, and who never cast a Democratic ballot in his life, will not support him for president, but on the contrary is now engaged in canvassing his county for Tilden and Hendricks. William S. Groesbeck and Charles Reemelin, old lawyers of the Cincinnati bar, who have sometimes voted the Democratic ticket, but who voted for Hayes for governor as against Governor Allen on the financial issues of the Ohio campaign in 1875, are now supporting Tilden and Hendricks. Fred Hassaurek, the distinguished and talented editor, formerly an associate of Rutherford B. Hayes at the bar, and heretofore a Republican, is a warm supporter of Tilden and Hendricks. Emil Hoffman, a young lawyer and chief deputy clerk of the Court of Common Pleas, who has always voted the Republican ticket, is now supporting Tilden and Hendricks. Jacob Wolff, an old lawyer, who has voted the Republican ticket for fifteen years, now supports Tilden and Hendricks. Judge Oliver, who was one of the judges of the court of common pleas during and after the war, and who at that time and for several years supported the Republican party, but more recently a Democrat, supports Tilden and Hendricks. Judge Mallon, one of the judges of the court of common pleas immediately preceding and for the first year of the war and a practicing attorney since, who was a war Democrat and frequently voted the Republican ticket, supports Tilden and Hendricks. C. W. Merrill, a Republican lawyer who joined the Liberal Republicans in 1872, but who again supported the Republican state ticket in 1875, now supports Tilden and Hendricks. Capt. Irwin B. Wright, E. S. Throop, late Adjutant Sixth Ohio; James Molony, assistant prosecuting attorney; Andrew Knell, George H. Harris, H. D. Peck, Johnson Harmon, Moses Wilson, John Healy, Ransford Smith and H. F. Brahears, Republican lawyers who joined the Liberal Republican movement in 1872, and have since acted with the Democratic party now support Tilden and Hendricks.

In addition to the above there are several Republican lawyers who have not yet declared for Hayes and may join the Democratic party at the ensuing election. Such is the estimate placed upon the Republican candidate for president by those who know him best. He never distinguished himself at the bar, but always ranked as a very ordinary attorney, never exceeding a second-rate lawyer. He was always a candidate for office, and allied himself with Sandoz-Eggleston faction in the Republican party to secure his nominations. The city of Cincinnati will vote against him for president.

New Firm.

I have this day associated with me in business, Mr. Geo. S. Hutt, and will conduct the business of the Dry Goods headquarters under the name and style of C. W. Parker & Co. Our purpose will be to carry out the principles of retrenchment and reform, and to this end we propose to conduct our business on a cash basis, and to cash and strictly prompt men we will offer extra inducements to trade with us. Look out for new advertisement in next week's Herald. C. W. PARKER, Geo. S. HUTT.

Editors Herald: In order to relieve my friends from any misapprehensions in the matter of my late unfortunate social difficulty, and to set myself right, I desire to make a short statement of the facts. I took this man Bates to board in my family for a short time because it was the only chance to get some palting done, and thinking that a stay of a few days would be unattended with any unpleasant consequences. For this work I paid him promptly. At this settlement, I was astonished by his asking my consent to marry my step-daughter. I was determined to prevent this if possible, because I had good reason to believe that he had a wife living. I being a Mason and the girl's father having been a Mason, I made known the situation to some of the prominent Masons. They thought something ought to be done, and after consultation, appointed a committee to invite him to leave, which he did. On account of this, on the following morning, after I had left the house, my daughters came to me saying that my wife had driven them out. Immediately I returned with the intention of securing harmony and worked to this end, proposing in the presence of witnesses that the matter would rest until the following day. To this was the response that no consultation was wanted and that if we all did not leave a certain person would be called in for the purpose of forcibly ejecting us. Finding matters in this shape I determined that I would protect my children, so I got another house and moved out. These are the material facts and can be proven. In all I did I had the interest of my whole family in view, and especially sought to prevent any dissension or scandal, and in view of all the kindness my wife has heretofore shown me and that I still feel for her, my first purpose was to protect the reputation of her daughter. W. NICHOLS.

Mr. Daniel F. Beatty, manufacturer and proprietor of the Beatty Piano and Beatty's celebrated Golden Tongue Parlor Organs, Washington, N. J., is certainly a very reasonable and generous man to transact business with. He makes this very fair proposition to any who may favor him with an order, as follows: "If the instrument does not prove satisfactory after a test trial of five days after receiving it, the purchase money will be refunded upon the return of the instrument, and he will pay freight charges both ways." This is certainly an exceedingly generous, and safe manner in which to transact business with him. He warrants his instruments for six years. See his advertisement. 8y1
